

Terms Governing Use of Copies

Archives of Manitoba

The Archives of Manitoba (Archives) permits a copy of records to be produced and used in accordance with donor agreements and copyright legislation.

It is the client's responsibility to determine whether records are subject to copyright legislation and to obtain appropriate clearances. This applies regardless of the manner in which the copies were created, for instance:

- copies provided by the Archives,
- copies created by a service provider, and/or
- copies generated by a client in the Research Room using microfilm scanners or their own camera.

Clients are responsible for obtaining permission to use copies of records where the use falls outside of what is permissible under the Canadian Copyright Act. Clients should refer to the Canadian Copyright Act or other applicable legislation.

The Archives may hold copyright for the original records or may be able to provide information pertaining to the copyright holder. The Archives does not provide advice about the copyright legislation. To inquire about copyright holders and/or to request permission, contact us in writing.

- For government archival records or private sector archival records, email gpsa@gov.mb.ca
- For Hudson's Bay Company Archives' records, email hbca@gov.mb.ca
- Note that for records in the public domain no permissions are required.

Visible credit must be given to the Archives of Manitoba or Hudson's Bay Company Archives as holders of the original records regardless of copyright status. The use of a credit line or citation is not a substitute for obtaining appropriate clearances. For information about citations, please refer to our Citation Guide.
